Description

Quality, technology and efficiency. Choose the stainless steel wall-mounted snack hood without motor to ensure healthy, odour-free air in your professional kitchen. Particularly suitable in hotels, pubs, bars and restaurants. Ristoattrezzature's stainless steel hood is also an ideal model for small kitchens. Select the most suitable size for your needs from our online catalogue and ensure excellent performance in the kitchen. Trust in Ristoattrezzature's experience and professionalism.

Design and operation The snack wall stainless steel hood without motor for restaurants is the ideal professional equipment to capture and expel fumes produced by the hob. Constructed entirely of Aisi 304 stainless steel, a high-quality, durable and resistant steel certified for food use, the hood features a technical design with clean lines. Inside our wall-mounted snack hood is a drip-proof, hermetically sealed, grease-collecting duct with drainage taps. The model is also equipped with dishwasher-safe, flame-retardant labyrinth filters. The external dimensions are 3000x1100x450 mm. Choose the ideal size and remember that you have the possibility of connecting several hoods side by side thanks to the use of plenums (optional) for better and more effective extraction. Finally, the weight is 103 kg. Professional, robust and durable: thanks to the stainless steel snack hood without motor, you can ensure optimum hygiene and working conditions.

Cleaning and maintenance Two of the aspects you should pay most attention to in the kitchen are cleaning and maintenance: essential operations for the correct and long-lasting functioning of your professional equipment. Cleaning our stainless steel snack hood without motor for restaurants is as easy as it is indispensable. Thanks to the high quality materials and easily washable filters, you will keep the performance of the product constant over time. You should carefully wash each part of the hood and remove excess grease using mild detergents and a soft cloth to avoid scratching the surface. Failure to remove grease can cause contamination of food placed under the extraction system. Why it is the right product for you Choosing the stainless steel snack hood without motor from Ristoattrezzature is a truly advantageous choice. Versatile, robust and suitable for continuous work as required in a professional kitchen, it can be installed quickly and always ensures excellent performance. Select the product made to measure for you from our catalogue: the Ristoattrezzature hood is shipped disassembled, consult the technical data sheet for details and choose from the available options the hood assembly.
