Description

Bread cutters

Bread cutters are automatic and semi-automatic machines equipped with a sharp cutting blade. They create evenly thick slices of bread on different amounts of available bread, with regular and precise cuts.

Both slice thickness and cutting speed can be set on the cutters. Simply program the cut before starting the section, and the bread will be automatically sliced without any further intervention by the operator.

Speed and quantity of slices depend on the model chosen. Typically, a cutter can cut up to more than 16,000 slices per hour. For this reason, bread cutters are indispensable in supermarkets selling fresh bread and in bakeries.

Maintenance of Bread Cutters

The crumb tray allows you to remove excess crumbs and prevent them from scattering around the kitchen or remaining inside the machine.
