Description

Hotel breakfast dispenser

The breakfast dispenser is a kitchen unit suitable for the distribution of drinks, cold and hot, in self-service mode in hotels, bed & breakfasts, hotels and bars.

Hotel breakfast dispensers are suitable for the breakfast room and have the advantage that the customer can directly choose the type of drink to be consumed during breakfast.

The structure of the dispensers is made of stainless steel, and depending on the model, two or three different drinks can be offered. Each tub can be heated by an internal thermostat, so you can choose whether to serve each drink as hot or cold. An external tap is connected to each tub so that you can fill your own cup or glass.

The dispensers are also equipped with an intermediate shelf for placing the cups and glasses while you take your drink through the tap. Underneath the shelf are hinged doors.

The trolley-less vending machine models do not have lower wheels for moving and must be placed on a shelf or table.
