Description

Professional trouser press

The trouser press is a very useful accessory in hotels, hotels and professional clothes washing shops to iron trousers impeccably.

Its operation is simple: the trousers are placed inside the machine, hung by the incorporated hanger, and through the two pressing panels they are pressed, eliminating creases and marks of any kind.

The reduced thickness of the machine means that it can be used inside the hotel laundry without taking up too much space.

Operation is electric, with internal heating elements that heat the panels and thus allow trousers to be ironed easily and smoothly.

Why choose a professional trouser press

For the clothes washing and ironing service offered by the most discerning hotels, the professional trouser press is an indispensable tool for achieving high quality results and protecting all types of fabric. The trouser press can also be used as a garment carrier to deliver freshly ironed clothes to customers.
